I am impressed by the professionalism and efficiency of WSEAS Journals regarding the review and publication of scientific articles. This is my first publication in this magazine, and the formal way and efficiency with which this journal has reached and communicated has been appreciated. The comments were shared by 3 reviewers in record time, whose comments were very helpful, helping us bring out the best side of our work. For these reasons, I highly recommend the journal WSEAS Transactions on Computer Research to all academics interested in publishing their work.
