Additional Comments:

The peer review process for this manuscript was thorough, rigorous, and genuinely constructive. All three reviewers provided detailed and substantive feedback that significantly strengthened the quality of our work. In particular, the reviewers' suggestions to incorporate explicit international benchmarks from Singapore and Germany, and to establish green logistics and ESG competency as a standalone component of the model, led to meaningful improvements in both the theoretical framework and the practical applicability of the findings. We are grateful for the expertise and care that each reviewer brought to evaluating our manuscript, and we believe the revised paper is considerably stronger as a result of their guidance.
