This was the second time we had sent a document to your organization. The WSEAS Transactions on Mathematics journal has the best perceptions of the review procedure. It was an actual peer review procedure. We would want to sincerely thank you and show our admiration for your comments. The two reviewers provided us with suggestions on how to make our article better. Revisions were made in response to the criticism of the methodology section, which was made more descriptive, and the data supporting it. I am grateful for your help.
